INTRODUCTION

I — Contents and arrangements of this Catalogue

This catalogue lists only the titles and relevant particulars of official publications placed on sale by the various Institutions and Common Services of the European Communities.

For easier reference, the publications have been catalogued in sections headed by the names of the different Institutions and, within these sections, classified by categories of documents or by major subjects.

Details concerning the Journal officiel (Official Gazette) are given in a separate section at the beginning of this catalogue, since it covers the activities of all three Communities.

II — Index

For additional ease of reference, an alphabetical subject index is appended at the end of the catalogue.

III — Abbreviations used to denote the languages in which the publications are available

This edition of the catalogue gives an English title only where the publication exists in English; otherwise the French title is quoted, followed by an English translation in brackets.

The abbreviations after each title indicate the languages in which the documents have been published, viz. d = German, f = French, i = Italian, n = Dutch, e = English, s = Spanish, e.g. "Journal officiel des Communautés européennes (d-f-i-n)" indicates that there are separate editions available in German, French, Italian and Dutch.

The same abbreviations, but separated by oblique strokes instead of dashes, are used for bilingual and multilingual publications, e.g. "Notes and Graphs on the Economic Situation in the Community (d/n and f/i)", indicates that two bilingual editions are available, one in German and Dutch and the other in French and Italian; "Directory of Community iron and steel producers with their rolling programmes (d/f/i/n)" indicates a single volume containing the text in all four official languages.

IV — Where and how to order the publications

With the exception of the titles for which the names and addresses of specialized selling agents are given in a footnote, all the publications enumerated in this catalogue are obtainable from the official Sales Offices listed overleaf or from all major booksellers.

When ordering, please quote full details including catalogue number.

The European Communities and their Institutions

The European Community comprises six countries — Belgium, France, the Federal Republic of Germany, Italy, Luxembourg and the Netherlands — with a combined population of 177,000,000. These six have bound themselves by the following Treaties, under which their future activities are to become more and more closely interwoven :

- (1) the Treaty establishing the European Coal and Steel Community, signed in Paris on April 18, 1951;
- (2) the Treaty establishing the European Economic Community, signed in Rome on March 25, 1957;
- (3) the Treaty establishing the European Atomic Energy Community, signed in Rome on March 25, 1957.

The object of the three Treaties, now in process of implementation, is gradually to blend the six economies into one. E.C.S.C., the first venture in European integration, introduced the first European Common Market, the Common Market for coal, steel, iron ore and scrap, in 1953; Euratom instituted the Common Market for nuclear products on January 1, 1959; the establishment of the General Common Market, for all goods, services, labour and capital, is under way, and will continue over a transition period originally scheduled to expire at the end of 1969. Progress has already been such, however, as to enable this date to be advanced.

The work of the three Executives — the High Authority of E.C.S.C. and the E.E.C. and Euratom Commissions — is watched and periodically debated by the European Parliament, which also plays an active part in the framing of integration policy.

The Court of Justice sits to ensure that the three Treaties and the Regulations governing their implementation are construed and applied in accordance with sound legal principles.

Co-ordination between the policies of the national Governments and of the European Communities is effected by the Councils of Ministers (the Special Council of Ministers of E.C.S.C., the E.E.C. Council and the Euratom Council).

By the terms of the Treaty signed by the six Foreign Ministers in Brussels on April 8, 1965, the three Executives are to be merged, the reorganized Communities to have in future a single Council and a single Commission.

Albuquerque, New Mexico, on the 11th day of March, 1964, I, the undersigned, a duly qualified and sworn law enforcement officer, do hereby certify that the following information was obtained from a confidential source, who has provided reliable information in the past, and who is being provided to you for your information only:

1. The first step is to identify the problem. This involves understanding the current situation and the desired outcome.

Press
and Information

1. The first step is to determine the type of data you are working with.
This will determine the appropriate statistical test to use.

2. Next, you need to formulate a hypothesis.
This is a statement about the relationship between the variables you are studying.

3. Then, you need to collect data. This can be done through a variety of methods, including
surveys, experiments,
and observations.

4. Once you have collected
the data, you need to analyze it. This involves calculating the mean,
standard deviation, and
other statistical measures.

5. Finally, you need to interpret the results.
This involves comparing the results to your hypothesis and drawing conclusions about the relationship between the variables.

6. The last step is to write a report. This should include a summary
of the data, the results
of the analysis, and your conclusions.

7. Finally, you need to
present your findings.
This can be done through
a variety of methods,
including a written report,
a presentation, or a poster.

Euronorm (1)

(Euronorms)

In accordance with various provisions of the Treaty establishing the European Coal and Steel Community, the High Authority has undertaken the task of securing alignment among the different national standards hitherto adopted in the individual member countries, taking account of, inter alia, the very latest technical advances made. To this end, the High Authority works in close co-operation with both producers and buyers and with the national standards institutions. As and when specifications are agreed by all concerned, they are published in the form of European Standards, known as Euronorms.

"De Ferri Metallographia"

The High Authority some time ago made substantial grants to a number of research institutes for the compilation of a standard reference work on metallography, entitled De Ferri Metallographia. Much intensive research has gone into the preparation of this compendium, which will be unique in its particular line.

While this is not strictly a European Community publication, the Central Sales Office is assisting with the marketing arrangements through its agencies in the Community countries and Great Britain.

Volume 1 is already out; Volumes 2 and 3 are to follow in April and June 1966 respectively ⁽¹⁾.
